In these circumstances he fine weather throughout. asked his Worship not to punish him as it would be a very serious thing for him in the future. His Worship said that although the defendeat repented is afterwards there was not the slightest doubt that he did infringe the Ordinance by dis beying a lawful order. The on y chore. panishment which the Ordinance provided was imprisonment, and he amet say he was very loth to send the defendant to prison and would be glad if Mr. Wotton would be satisfied with an order for the defendant to come up for judgment when called upon.

Mr. Wotton said the Company regarded the offence as a very serious one and as setting a very bad example, all the more so as there were at present many opportunities for getting shipinto trouble. They therefore brought this case not so much for the punishment of the defendant but for an example to those employed on thips, more particularly as in consequence of the troubles which were supposed to be approaching us there were many inducements to accept bribes and to conceal contraband goods on ships going to the various ports in China, which was of course acconsiderable risk to shipowners. It was on these grounds that Messrs Bu torfield and Swice brought this orse before his Worship. They regretted greatly that the law did not provide for any less poulsh ment than imprisonment, but at the same time one could not help thinking that the legislature in framing this Act had in view the very serious sinsequences which might result from such offences. In the oircumstances he would ask that a proper punishment be inflicted. His Worship sentonced the defendant to seven days' imprisonment, without hard labour. Chan Enk was charged with stealing a jacket and a mai of the value of $6 the property of Pow Yan, a servant. The defendant, in comdainant's absence, broke into his box, and abstracted the articles named. A pavabroker dentified the defendant as the man who sold the missing goods to him. His Worship imposed a sentence of one month's hard labour. Sit Lam Ying was sent to gool for they menths' hard labour for stealing an ambrelle from a trader named Lo Hin Vin. THEY ROLLED ON THE FLOOR

On Monday, Nov mb r 24th, I '90, the Amerian papers published the following news item :-"Mrs. Sarab S. He str. of No. 873, East One Hundred and Thirty fourth Street, N w York, shot and killed her dif veste day morn ng. the was a lady of excellent shares to and high social position, and a mamber of the Roy. Dr lamsay's Presbyterian Church. She was old to-do and very active in various public and pri-"ife charities. Since last July she had suffired fearfully from indigestion and dysp pan, whi h brought on melinefishes and the ca kind of inunity, under the influence of which she took per own life."

Here is another story, not so tractical, but with the same moral. The narrator tells it of nipsel. " Wostly," he says, "we done and fear leath, yet once I prayed to die, and the reason vas in this wise. Up to Christmas 1-88, I had been a healthy man, but at that time (a period of rejoining with so many) I fait depressed. lunguid, and tired. Wy appetite left me, and I vas much distressed after enting the lightest ford. My skip and eyes became tinged with a lark yellow colour, and the kidney score ion was like blood. The pan in my stomica was almost unbearable and often lasted from 12 to 14 hours cithout intermission. Sometimes I was in pain night and day, and was so bad that me wife had o it up with me brough the night I was constantly sick, and transled with a storage cough, and expectorated a quantity of green

"In spite of warm clothing and every comfort. I was always chilled; the cold shivers running through me as if my blood were thin and oner. I could take no solid fond; I lived on soups, milk puddings, &c and after each meal I had empty, grawing, windy pains at the stomsch, which nothing relieved.

"After a time an intolerable itching of the skin spread all over me, as if my blood were poisoned. Our family physician attended me for about a year. Acting upon his advice I went to Harrogate, where I consulted another looter, and drank the waters, but feeling worse I returned home. The bath attendant at Harrogate and others told me I was suffering from blood poisoning, but this the dooters never mentioned The first doctor said it was the nassing of gullstones that gave me such dread-

"I now consulted an eminent specialist at Tanchester, who confirmed what the other doctor had told me, but no se of them afforded me amy relief.

"In this mi erable way I dragged on for six months more, and became so much reduced ... could scare ly put one foot b fore the other, and so this that the rings tell off my fingers and rolled on the floor. I was in such pain that I prayest to die, a done of the doctors told a friend of mine I could not recover. "It August of last year (1890), whilst my sufferings were at the worst, a book was sent to me by post telling of a medicine called Wother Seigel's Cirative Syrap. I determined to try it, and sout to Mr. Evans. Chemist, Lymn. for a supply. After taking the first bottle, I felt a . little, effer and by persevering with the remedy I recovered my appetite, and gradually guined strengt .. My natural colour is now returned and I feel as well as I ever did in my life; in fact, as well as I die when a boy. I can eat any kind of food without inconvenience, and have gained 30 pounds in weight during the post three months. I may ald that previous to taking this medicine I was so much altered that my friends, and even my pupils, sourcely recognised me I tell every one what Seign's Syrup lid for me." The gentleman who makes the foregoing statement i a person of position and known to the publication of his name, but the perfect truth of what is here related is vouched for by Tr. J. H. Evans, the chemist above named. The case was an aggravated one of indigestion and dyspep is and its natural consequences. The whole system had been poisoned and disirdered by the acids engendered by the formentation in the stomach, and, had not Seigel's Syrup come to the resone just as it did, a fatal result must have followed in a brief time. | 15-2201
